In this "Drama Dig" - act out stories and legends of discovery, outside in the sun.
Dig into your imagination and creativity in this delightful mix of History, Archeology, Art and Theater.

Archeological Digs:

-) Visit the Egyptian pyramids and tomb of boy Pharaoh Tutankhamen. Investigate his curse. Copy and create some of his famous crowns.
-) Join an African safari and dig for dinosaur bones! Discover ancient Bushmen paintings in caves - paint them for scenery for the show.
-) Dig for gold and tales in ancient Aztec tombs.
-) Discover an Australian trunk holding Captain Cook's diaries. Tell Aboriginal tales and write your own diary.

Present a show of paintings, crafts and drama on the last day.

Not a School sponsored event.

The Philosophy

"I believe drama should be an integral part of a child's education, and I am involved with the workings of the imagination and the craft of communication. Drama is so much more than theater, which deals with a performance and an audience. I have seen so many workshops in which the production is more important than the child's development. I am concerned with providing opportunities for invention and expression, with an understanding of human situation and behavior through movement and speech; with a bringing to life - in a way that adds to personal experience. Drama cannot be separated from the arts - music, movement, speech and song, the visual arts, poetry, technical skills, history and literature, especially storytelling. Drama is vital to all life skills!"

Aims and Objectives.

1. To stimulate the pupil's imagination and to extend their creative awareness.
2. To develop the skills required for efficient communication, both audible and visual.
3. To liberate pupils from self-consciousness in order to develop their whole personality, physically, emotionally, and intellectually.
4. To develop the pupil's concentration.
5. To intensify their awareness of people and things around them.
6. To impart some knowledge and appreciation of the history and the practice of drama and the theater.

To do all this in a homely atmosphere of comfort and fun.
